

ANJOU BLANC

DOMAINE DES TROTTIERES

"CLAIR DE LUNE"

2022

Let us whisk you away to the enchanting world of Domaine des Trotties, a winery that's been weaving its magic for over a century. Picture this: rolling vineyards stretching as far as the eye can see, nestled in the heart of the Anjou region and the charming "Vallée du Layon" in Loire. It's like a fairy tale come to life.

Now, let's dive into the juicy details. The Lamothe family has been steering this ship since 1985, and let us tell you, they've got a passion for grapes that's practically woven into their DNA. These folks aren't just winemakers; they're story creators. With 130 hectares at their fingertips, they're like the conductors of a symphony that's played out across the landscape.

But here's the twist: they're not just any winemakers. They're the hip, sustainable, "we-care-about-Mother-Earth" kind. Yep, they're all about sustainable viticulture, which means they're not just thinking about today's glass, but also about the generations of wine lovers yet to come.

Gather around, because we've got a little tale to spin about something that'll make your taste buds do a happy dance – the legendary "Chenin Clair de Lune." Now, hold on to your glasses, because this is some seriously top-tier stuff we're talking about.

Imagine a magical parcel of land, just 2.8 hectares in size, where the vines have been soaking up the sun and wisdom for a whopping 45 years. Yep, these vines have seen some things, let us tell you. They've got stories to tell in every sip of "Chenin Clair de Lune". Now, here's where it gets even more interesting. This land isn't just any land; it's like a treasure trove of terroir goodness. We're talking shale, sand, and clay – the trio that makes this wine the superstar it is. And the winemaking? Oh, it's the good ol' traditional way. None of that fancy-schmancy stuff – just the real deal. But here's the secret sauce – aging on the lees. Nope, not the "tell me no lies" kind, but the lees that give the wine that extra oomph. Picture this: for 6 to 9 months, this wine is chilling with its lees, soaking up all that complexity and character. It's like a spa day for wine, and the results? They're nothing short of extraordinary.

This wine is like a perfectly balanced symphony of fruit. This wine's like a treasure that gets even better with time. See, by the second year of aging, it's like it's developed a little secret garden of flavors. But there's a trick to unlocking it. Give it a gentle swirl in a decanter, and bam! You'll see this wine blush with joy as it opens up and sets free those delicate aromas. It's like watching a flower bloom in fast forward.
