the vineyard: Cotta is a cru (MGA) of the municipality of Neive. The parcel this wine comes from is our smallest & youngest vineyard. Its particularity is that it's planted exclusively with Nebbiolo Rosé, previously considered a clone of Nebbiolo (CN 111). Recent genetic analyses though proved it to be its offspring (the second parent is unknown).

the vintage: 2022 was the hottest and driest vintage in Piedmont as in all of Italy in the last 200 years (since climate data have been collected). These two main factors primarily influenced the length of the growing season, making it shorter, and the quality of the grapes - less rain means less must, excessive sun and high temperatures mean thicker skins and a higher concentration of aromatic precursors.

the variety: the reason the Nebbiolo Rosé was considered for quite a long time a clone of Nebbiolo was because it produces wines of very similar characteristics, not typical for none of its numerous siblings. It has its particularities though, such as lighter color and abundant floral notes in the nose, as its name suggests.

the wine: as in previous years only the best barrels were selected for separate bottling.

the name: Sent-e-ùndes in Piedmontese means «111» - the number of the Nebbiolo Rosé clone.
